Bungee Book Club

Project Title	Bungee Book Club
Summary	Editing website content and reviewing books for USAID's Bungee Book Club, an Agencywide book club open to other international development professionals and those looking to have open-minded dialogue on timely topics.
Country	United States

Project Description

The Bungee Book Club (BBC) was started April 2009 at USAID. For over 10 years now, we have come together to discuss books and share ideas. BBC members (a.k.a. Bungees, BBCniks, Bungestas) primarily come from across U.S. Agency for International Development (US AID), but anyone can join. The only prerequisites are a love of reading and desire to discuss ideas.

In spring 2017, The BBC partnered with two distinguished USAID organizations, Women@AID and the USAID Library. These partnerships provide a unique opportunity to strengthen The BBC by bringing greater visibility to its book selections and enhancing the substance of our discussions through a broader range of ideas and perspectives.

For this project, we are looking for a student to review our book selections and provide additional selection examples, as well as update/modernize our website: http://thebbc.info/.

In the past, we have had interns interested in library science, international development, or other fields outside of the international affairs realm.

Our group contributes highly to employee engagement at USAID, and we hope that our VSFS intern could find new ways to engage our members.

Required Skills or Interests

	Skill(s)
	Research
,	Website desi

Writing

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

None